

New Country Pride Camp Pricing 2022

What is Sliding Scale Pricing? Sliding Scale is a pricing model that allows you to select your New Country Pride Camp tuition rate based on your family's net income and financial circumstances.

Why this model? As part of our commitment to equity, one of our long-term goals is to increase financial accessibility to all our programs and instituting a trust-based model of sliding scale tuition is part of that commitment. This model allows families to pick their tuition price from provided options, detailed below. We are asking families with more financial means to pay more than the standard price, allowing families with less financial means to send their children to NCPC at a tuition rate that works with their personal financial experience.

How does pricing work? Multiple sliding scale tuition options are available * (see image below). We invite you to choose any of the prices and payment plans offered, no questions asked. However, we do ask that you consider your net household income before determining your tuition price.

**If the lowest price point still does not work for your family, please reach out to our team! Our goal is to include everyone, regardless of financial circumstances.*

How do I know what price is right for my family? Consider your personal financial experience and your family's financial means. The standard price for three weeks of New Country Pride Camp's is $3000, what it costs for us to run the program, pay our staff, transport campers and staff to and from our campgrounds, provide high-quality programs, meals, and snacks, operate our pools/facilities, and more. If you can pay more than $3,000, you are helping families with fewer financial means pay for a camp experience that aligns with their financial means and helps us work toward creating a more equitable world.

If I select a higher price, is any of my tuition tax-deductible? Yes! Any amount you pay above the $3,000 base price for New Country Pride Camp Summer 2022 is tax-deductible (e.g., if you select the $4,200 option, $1,200 of your total tuition is tax-deductible).
